

BOSKONE® 6163

February 9-11 13-15, 2024 2026
Westin Boston Seaport
Boston, MA

(So we didn't have time to fully update this restaurant guide for 2026. But we did verify hours and remove establishments that have closed. New restaurants that have opened in the past two years have not been researched. We did what we could, and it's now 1:30am, the con starts tomorrow, and we're exhausted.)

Airport/Rail/Bus Travel—Besides taxis, local last-leg options:

Silver Line from Logan Airport—Free inbound from Logan to Boston. Get off at World Trade Center stop (first stop after tunnel). Go up, the hotel and BCEC are 1 block away. Walk thru the SBWTC garage then the Omni to avoid bad weather. (Avoid the Blue Line from Logan Airport; it's longer & complicated.)

Train/Bus arriving at South Station—Take Silver Line to World Trade Center; or walk 0.8mi down Summer St to hotel.

Train arriving at North Station—Take Orange Line to Downtown Crossing (or Green Line to Park Street); switch to Red Line to South Station, then Silver Line to World Trade Center.

Taxi/Limo/Uber/Lyft/Etc

Metro: 617-242-8000; 617Taxi: 617-829-4222; Ind: 617-267-1313; Indepen Owners Assoc: 617-825-4000; City Cab: 617-536-5100; Boston Logan Taxi: 617-499-4800; Boston Cab: 617-536-5010

Bicycle Parking—No longer available in the Westin garage.

The BCEC has covered bicycle parking.

Vehicle Parking—(Verify rates; they change often.)

Also note that 24 hours may end at 5am; costing an extra day.

Hotel parking—$55/day (Valet $65); Electric charging avail

BCEC—The Boston Convention & Exhibition Center (next door) can host large conventions opposite Boskone. (eg, the New England Boat Show) Traffic and parking can be difficult. On the bright side, the BCEC South Parking Lot is normally be open during shows ($25/day). Typical weekend hours: 6am–Midnight, actual hours can vary. Don't park there if you plan to stay late.

SBWTC Garage—In back of the Omni (Across street from the Westin). Available 24x7.

Parking sometimes can be reserved in advance. Rates vary $16–$38; highest for drive-ins.

601 Congress Street—New building under construction but garage might be open.

$20/day (Might be $14/day) Enter from Congress Street or Silver Line way (0.4 mi).

Channelside Parking Lot—(Probably cheapest close to hotel) Bineford & A Streets (0.5 mi). Weekend rates $5–$8/day. Complicated to reach: Take D Street to Congress Street; head north to A Street; the entrance is on Bineford Street. Credit-cards only.

NECCO Garage—4 blocks to hotel past the BCEC (0.5 mi) 10 Necco Street. $12/day weekends (mid-week higher). Follow directions to Channelside above (they're close to each other).

Aloft Hotel Lot—($25/day, on D Street 2 blocks west)

<https://secure.parkonect.com/AnyTime.aspx?GarageID=305>

Fargo Lot—Accepts oversize vehicles. 93 Fargo Street <https://parking.com/boston/lot/fargo-lot>

Boston Common Parking Garage—Downtown Boston

$18/day (also discount ticket books). BostonCommonGarage.com

Cheapest options—for overnight parking are a subway ride away. These include MBTA Wellington Garage ($5/day, but only on on Upper Levels), the MBTA Alewife Garage ($9/day). Expect the travel time from these garages (via the Red or Orange Lines, then the Silver Line at South Station) to take 45 minutes to an hour. <https://www.mbta.com/parking/overnight-parking>

On-Street Parking—can be found if you arrive early. Meters are free on Sunday (and Federal & State Holidays). Rates dynamic depending upon demand ($1.50–$4.00/hour). Warning: Many on-street parking spaces near the hotel are restricted to local residents after hours and the city tickets offenders vigorously. Read the rules on the signs. Be careful since the rules can change in only a few feet. (And you might have to move your car at 6pm.)

Located across from the Grand Ballroom lobby of the Westin. The prices are in the high range for what they offer, and the vegetable topping selection is very limited. The upside is they are super convenient when you absolutely need something to eat, and you can't venture far from the hotel.

Restaurants Close to Hotel (Across Galleria/Summer Street in Omni Hotel)

(And without a convention it probably won't be as crowded as the Westin.)

Restaurants Further Away—Longer walk or cab/subway ride

Seaport Neighborhood

Organized by cuisine, then by distance.

The Westin is located in the Seaport District (Seaport Blvd/Congress St) where the restaurant scene has grown dramatically the last few years. Google Maps shows 50+ establishments within a 15 minute walk. Both Fan Pier and Fish Pier have famous clusters of seafood restaurants.

The easiest way to get there is thru the Silver Line 'T' Station (across the street behind the Omni Hotel), down the escalator, exit onto Congress St. Short cut thru the Omni and SBWTC garage.

Other Nearby Boston Neighborhoods With Listings

Slightly further away in local neighborhoods are a plethora of eating options (ethnic, regional, and otherwise). If you want more than just a meal many of these are worth the trip. The North End of Boston is famous for Italian. South Boston wonderful Irish Pubs; the South End you'll find Soul and Southern fare; and of course there is Chinatown.

FT-Fort Point (In between Seaport and South Station, ~15 min walk)

SB-South Boston (long walk from Hotel ~1 mile or more, or Red Line to Broadway or Andrew stop)

SE-South End (just to the west, 10 minute cab ride)

FD-Financial District (~1.5 mile walk~1.5 mile walk or Red Line>South Station/Downtown Crossing, or Orange Line>State)

LD-Leather District (~1 mi or Red Line/Silver Line>South Station)

CT-Chinatown (~1.5 mi walk, or Orange Line>Chinatown, or #7 Bus)

BB-Back Bay/FE-Fenway/KE-Kenmore (Green Line: Many stops Arlington & West)

NE-North End (Green/Orange lines to Haymarket/North Station or Blue Line>Aquarium)

Not to confuse people: but for Non-Bostonians the South End is West of South Boston; East Boston is North of Southie; while the North End is East of the West End (where Leonard Nimoy grew up; but it doesn't exist any more.)

No sign out front. Call for free shuttle. Classy diner style menu and upscale bar food. Executive Chef Luke Beardslee prides himself on bringing fresh ingredients and imaginative dishes to the table. Pork and beef served are sourced from a grass-fed program in Maine. Winner of Boston Magazine's "Best of Boston" and Improper Bostonian's "Boston's Best" awards for 2012.

Pete's Dockside Cafe

Traditional Road-Stop Food
12 Channel St (0.6 mi) 617.423.1110
M-F 5:30a-3p Sa/Su closed
A no-frills eatery that just serves good traditional American, road-stop food. It's a bit of a hidden place on an industrial dock, but the prices and portions are worth it. The vegetarian options are slim, but they do offer a veggie burger. No website, so look them up on Yelp to see user photos of the menu.

Mul's Diner—$$$

Well-known destination diner;
75 W. Broadway (SB) (moved to) 80 W. Broadway (SB ~1 mi) (or one block from Broadway Red Line Stop) 617.268.5478
Daily 5am-2pm; Sun 6am; Amrheins 2pm-10pm
A favorite with the locals for breakfast food. Expect a line. Best corn beef hash in the city; the Creme Brulee French Toast is to die for. Always a long wait on weekends. (Note: They moved across the street. It's Mul's in the morning; Amrheins American/Italian afternoon & evenings.)

The Galley Diner

Boston Magazine 'Best Diner' Award
11 P Street (SB, near Castle Island if you're into sightseeing) 617.464.1024

southstreetdiner.com dinerboston.com

Decent 24-hr diner 1 block away from the bus station, which has a history of being featured in films. Booths can be reserved for parties of three or more from 1a-5a (min $5 per person/20 minute service). There are vegetarian options, but they are limited as diner food tends to be. Breakfast served all day in case you have a crazy urge to down a plate of chocolate-filled french toast while working the party floor. Beware: servers are likely to make you feel rushed to finish and leave, once you get your food. Questionable safe food handling & serving practices.

An offspring of Island Creek Oysters, this place is often packed with seafood and beer lovers. It's the go-to place in the seaport area for cask (real ale) and craft beer, and cider, and the selection often has wonderful surprises in rotation. The food selection is slim, and doesn't offer much for vegetarians, but it's wonderfully fresh. Reservations are always suggested due to popularity, but they do seem to have a limit on the group size.

tours, but are not needed for tasting. The Friday 4pm tasting is the most popular, so first come first served until capacity is reached. Brewery fresh beer is for sale in 6 and 12 packs, as well as cases and refillable growlers. Tours are $5 and include a glass and tasting. Tour tickets are only available for purchase on the day of, and go on sale at 11a each morning and often sell out by 2p or earlier. The beer hall though, is open 7 days a week to sit and enjoy the view of Boston, while enjoying a pint and a really great soft pretzel.

Daily 11am–10pm
shabuzen.com

Some of the fairest prices for Hot Pot to be found are here. It's not uncommon to have a great meal for around $17 per person when all is said and done. Non meat eaters be aware, while there are vegetables to be found, this sort of meal usually centers around meat, and you will be sharing the same cooking broth.

A staple donut shop in Southie. Nothing like your mass produced DD fare, but that can be good or bad if you have a favorite from that sort of place. They have other pastries as well as some pizzas. Can be quite crowded in the morning so be prepared. Note: They have boxes, so if you're going to get more than a few donuts with goopy glaze, ask for one so it won't end up all over the inside of the bag that they will give you instead. Yelp has it that they fry up a number of batches at night, so if you want a that fresh out of the fryer, gooey glazed ring of dough, you'll want to head by after 9 or 10pm. Also has pizza, sandwiches, burgers, salads, ...
